How We May Use and Disclose Medical and/or Mental/Behavioral Health Information About You

The following categories describe different ways that we use and disclose information. For each category of uses or disclosures, we will explain what we mean and try to give some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. However, all of the ways we are permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the categories.

1. Disclosure at Your Request

We may disclosure information when requested by you. This disclosure at your request may require a written authorization by you.

2. For Treatment

We may use information about you to provide you with medical treatment or services. We may disclose information about you to doctors, nurses, technicians, health care students, or other personnel who are involved in taking care of you. For example, a doctor treating you for a broken leg may need to know if you have diabetes because diabetes may slow the healing process. [For example, a doctor treating you for a mental health condition may need to know what medications you are currently taking, because the medications may affect what other medications may be prescribed for you.]

3. For Payment

We may use and disclose information about you so that the treatment and services you receive may be billed to and payment may be collected from you, an insurance company or a third party. For example, we may need to give information about treatment you received to your health plan so it will pay us or reimburse you for the treatment.

4. For Health Care Operations

We may use and disclose information about you for health care operations. These uses and disclosures are necessary to run our facility and make sure that all of our patients receive quality care. For example, we may use information to review our treatment and services and to evaluate the performance of our staff in caring for you.

5. Incidental Uses and Disclosures

There are certain incidental uses or disclosures of your health information that occur while we are providing services to you or conducting our business. For example, other individuals waiting in the same area may hear your name called. We will make reasonable efforts to limit these incidental uses and disclosures.

6. Fundraising Activities

We may use information about you for fundraising purposes, but only with a valid signed authorization from you.

7. Family Members or Others You Designate

If a request for information is made by your spouse, parent, child, or sibling and you are unable to authorize the release of this information, we are required to give the requesting person notification of your presence in our facility. Unless you request that this information not be provided, we must make reasonable attempts to notify your next of kin or any other person designated by you, for your release, transfer, serious illness, injury, or death only upon request of the family member.

8. Facility Directory

We may include certain limited information about you in a directory while you are a patient in our facility. This information may include your name, location in the hospital, your general condition (e.g., good, fair, etc.) and your religious affiliation. Unless there is a specific written request from you to the contrary, this directory information, except for your religious affiliation, may also be released to people who ask for you by name. Your religious affiliation may be given to a member of the clergy, such as a priest or rabbi, even if they don't ask for you by name. This information is released so your family, friends and clergy can visit you and generally know how you are doing.

9. To Individuals Involved in Your Care or Payment for Your Care

We may release information about you to a friend or family member who is involved in your medical care. We may also give information to someone who helps pay for your care. In addition, we may disclose information about you to an organization assisting in a disaster relief effort so that your family can be notified about your condition, status, and location.

10. Research

Under certain circumstances, we may use and disclose information about you for research purposes. For example, a research project may involve comparing the health and recovery of all patients who received one medication to those who received another, for the same condition.

11. As Required by Law

We will disclose about you when required to do so by federal, state or local law.

12. To Avert a Serious Threat to Health or Safety

We may use and disclose information about you when necessary to prevent a serious threat to your health and safety or the health and safety of the public or another person.

13. Health Information Exchange

We may share your health information electronically with other groups through a Health Information Exchange network. These other groups may include hospitals, laboratories, doctors, public health departments, health plans, and other participants. Sharing data electronically is a faster way to get your health data to the providers treating you. For example, if you travel and need treatment, it allows other doctors that participate to electronically access your information to help care for you. We are also involved in the Affordable Care Act and may use and share information as permitted to achieve national goals related to meaningful use of electronic health systems.

We may deny your request for an amendment if it is not in writing or does not include a reason to support the request. In addition, we may deny your request if you ask us to amend information that:

- Was not created by us, unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available to make the amendment;

Right to an Accounting of Disclosures

You have the right to request an “accounting of disclosures.” This is a list of the disclosures we made of information about you other than our own uses for treatment, payment and health care operations (as those functions are described above), and with other exceptions by law.
