

YOUR RIGHTS

All people and organizations providing public assistance must respect your rights. They can help you understand and apply for benefits and services.

You have the right to an interpreter free of charge.

Ask the agency responsible for your benefits or services for language assistance.

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO:

1. Understand what is happening with your application or benefits.
2. Get written and oral explanations about your application or benefits. You have a right to a free interpreter for this information. Ask the agency responsible for your benefits/ services for language assistance.
3. If the state agency has the written explanation in non-English languages, you have a right to get this information in those languages.

4. Get a receipt for documents you hand-deliver.
5. See your case record
6. See laws and regulations about your program.
7. Ask a judge to review any agency action or inaction about your eligibility, benefits, or services.
8. Not face discrimination in applying for or receiving program benefits or services.
9. File a complaint about discrimination.
10. Get a "reasonable accommodation" if you have a disability or impairment. This is special help for you to access or participate in the program.
11. Have your information kept confidential.
12. Be treated with courtesy and respect.

IF YOU ARE HAVING PROBLEMS WITH YOUR BENEFITS OR SERVICES:

Keep records of all your information, documents, and contacts with the agency.

Get a receipt when you turn anything in.

Bring someone with you to a meeting with the agency.

Complain. There are 4 ways to do this:

Informal: You can ask to speak to a supervisor to talk about problems with a worker or to go over the rules and the proposed action on your benefits or services.

State Hearing: Ask for a state hearing if you disagree with an action or agency inaction about your benefits or services. You must ask for a hearing within 90 days of the date of agency's notice about the benefits or services. If you ask for a hearing after 90 days, a judge will need to see if you have a good reason for asking late, like illness or a disability.

Discrimination complaint: See Discrimination Complaint section in this pamphlet

Grievance: You can file a complaint with the agency if it has a grievance procedure.

This does not protect your benefits in the way that asking for a state hearing does.

STATE HEARINGS

You can also ask for a state hearing if the agency is not giving you benefits or services you think you should get. See PUB 412 for State Hearing information.

If your problem is with General Assistance or general relief, you must ask for a county hearing.

If your problem is with Social Security benefits, you must contact the Social Security Administration.

ASKING FOR A STATE HEARING

EXPEDITED HEARINGS

If you have an urgent problem, you can ask for an "expedited" hearing to have the hearing held sooner. For Medi-Cal, this is when regular hearing scheduling could seriously jeopardize the enrollee's life, physical or mental health.

PROHIBITED DISCRIMINATION

Under State law, agencies may not deny benefits or services or provide you aid that is different from aid provided to others based on:

Race, Color, Ancestry, National Origin (including language), Ethnic Group Identification, Age, Physical or Mental Disability, Medical Condition, Religion, Sex, Gender, Gender Identity or Expression, Sexual Orientation, Marital Status, Domestic Partnership, Political Affiliation, Citizenship, Immigration Status, and Genetic Information.

Federal laws also prohibit discrimination on several, although not all, of the bases listed above. Federal Law also prohibits:

Delaying or denying the placement of a child for adoption or into foster care based on the race, color, or national origin of the adoptive or foster parents, or the child;

Denying any individual the opportunity to become a foster or adoptive parent based on the race, color, or national origin of the individual or child involved.

EXAMPLES OF DISCRIMINATION

The agency does not give you a free interpreter.

A worker tells a certain ethnic group about more programs and services than people of other ethnicities.

The agency won't help you get large print or Braille versions of written information to help you with visual impairment.

A worker learns of your religion or sexual orientation and then treats you differently.

You can't get to appointments because the agency building does not have an elevator and you have a disability limiting your use of stairs.

You cannot get your wheelchair into examination, interview rooms or restrooms.

The agency does not want you to have training because they say you are "too old."

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS: SPECIAL HELP FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

A person with a physical or mental disability may have the right to a free reasonable accommodation from a government agency to help them access and participate in programs and services. If you have a disability and need extra help, you should ask the local or state agency responsible for your application or benefits/services. The agency must work with you to determine what help you need. If the agency is denying you an accommodation, it must give you written notice stating the reason for the denial. The notice must list your appeal rights.
